

PLEASE DO NOT GO AFTER/HARASS COIL OVER THIS

This document is created with the intent of instigating a response from Coil, in hopes that they will clear things up, as right now his story looks like a lie. The bottom of the doc will contain a few requests for things Coil can show to prove his innocence.

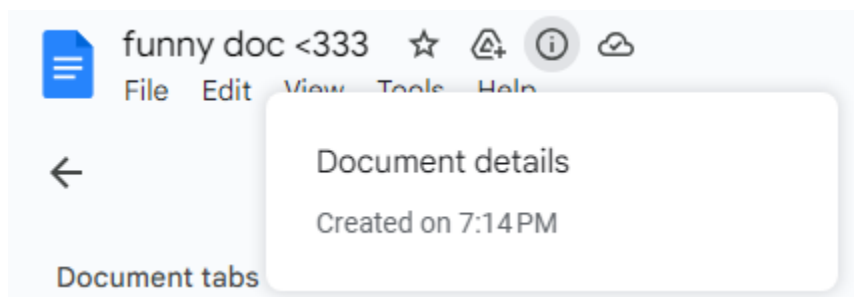

Over the past 2 days the user @coilswife has claimed to have been harassed and doxxed by their ex for shipping Subkit, he also claims his ex sexually assaulted him at knifepoint, and he also claims to have attempted suicide. However their story has many flaws, and right now all signs point to it being entirely fabricated by Coil.

All screenshots of time and dates from me are in Pacific Standard Time. (PST)

1. Fake Document/Fake Suicide Attempt

On February 15th at 10:00 PM PST, Coil posted a scheduled tweet, containing a document that appears to be a diary of some sort. They replied saying “I’m not dead but read this if you want”, implying that this document is a suicide note.

The key thing about the document is not the contents of the document, but the date it was created. Coil claimed they copied the document over from their personal account to a burner email so their email didn’t get leaked. This happened at 7:14 PM PST, as shown in the document details.

However, there is no evidence of the original doc existing at all, and Coil could have very easily fabricated this document himself, as it was created 1 hour and 21 minutes after he claimed he was going to attempt^[1], and 54 minutes before he tweeted out that he had survived^[2], which is allegedly in the middle of his suicide attempt.

If Coil is innocent, I've requested at the bottom that he respond to this and provide screenshots of the original document, along with the version history, to prove that this document was not faked by him.

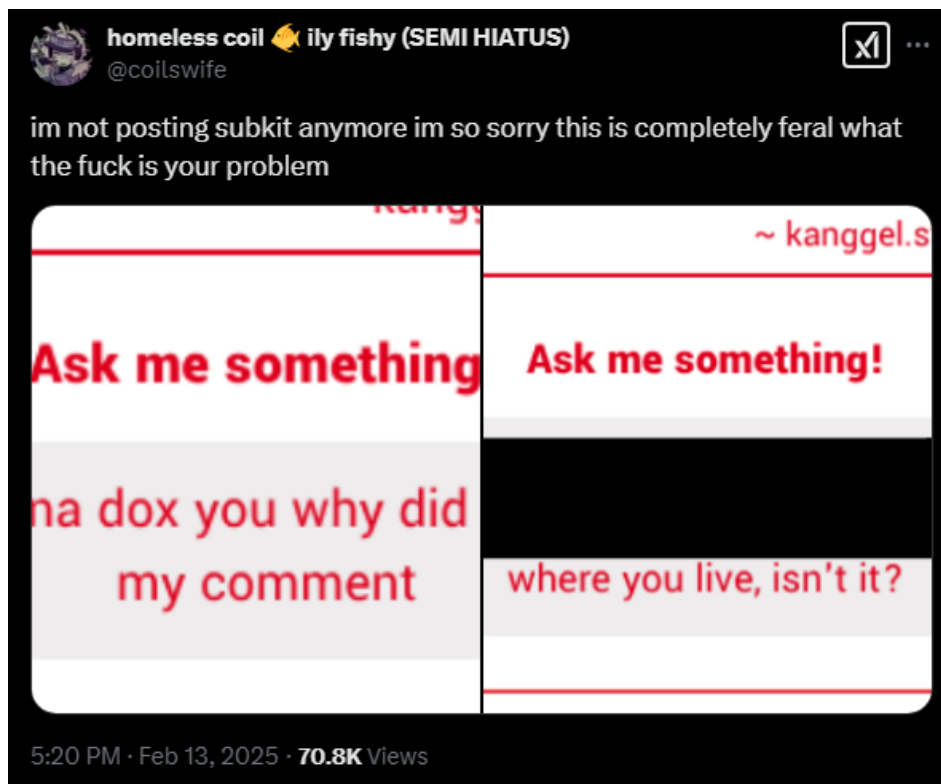

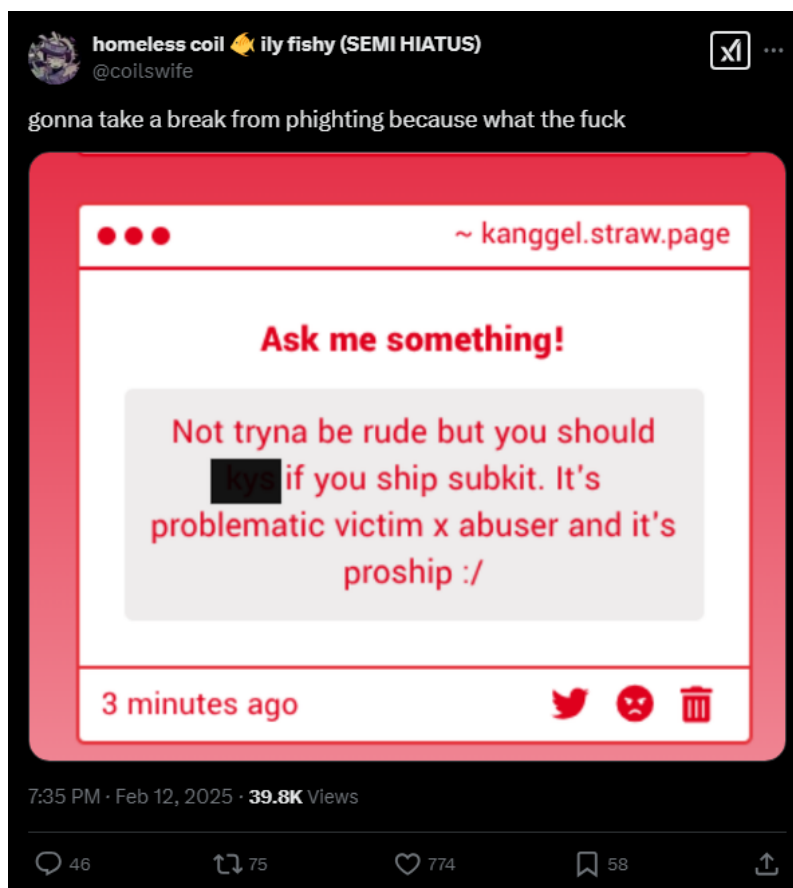

2. Fake Strawpage messages

The initial messages of Coil getting harassed for posting subkit are faked as well. Both posts were screenshotted 2 and 3 minutes after they were sent, and based off of the time Coil tweeted both screenshots, they were sent 4 minutes apart from each other.

It's incredibly unlikely that they conveniently opened their strawpage two minutes after the first message, it's much more likely they just sent themselves the messages and opened them instantly.

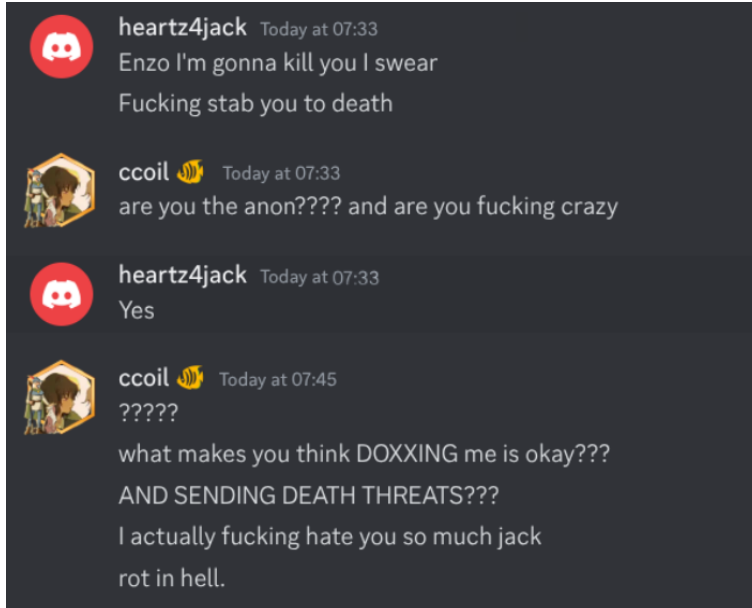

However, someone must have called him out on that because the follow up messages with the doxxing threats point towards this even more, as Coil conveniently cropped out how long ago the messages were sent. All other strawpage posts on his account are not cropped like this, and show the time, yet he conveniently hid it on these posts.

3. Sexual Assault Allegations

Coil claims that his ex boyfriend confessed to sending the strawpage messages on Discord in his suicide note document.

This discord account has a blank profile picture, and Coil never shows the profile, where we can see things like the date of account creation, or any proof that this is his actual ex partner. This is a critical part in showing evidence, as right now every sign points to Coil making this account and messaging themselves on the same day.

After this Coil claimed to have been messaged by their ex that he was coming at 6 PM, however Coil never showed the message from their ex that said that.

4. Requests for Coil.

In hopes that Coil can prove his innocence, I have a few simple requests on the next page for things he can show that would clear up these holes I have pointed out here.

1. Screen recording of the original diary document from your main google account

Show the date, and also show the version history, proving that it was actually the real document on the date of creation. You may feel free to censor any part where it may show your email address.

Version history button

Button to show date created

2. Evidence of your discord messages with your ex partner.

Show a screen recording of the message that says he was coming at 6, and show a screenshot of the account's creation date. You may censor the username if you wish.

Right now there is just so much more evidence pointing to Coil lying, and not enough that any of this actually happened. Please show this document to Coil, I do hope that they can prove themselves as innocent, as I'd like to believe they aren't a horrible person who would go and lie about all of this.
