max.tax

ETR is clearly advocating the reduction of the costs of the public sector to a maximum of 40 percent of GDP already including state sponsored social security charges and state owned industrial activity.

ETR strongly hold the view that in time of global market pressure is on Europe to reduce it almost immoral taxation level. Europe can not sustain taxation levels of over 50% when the US and Japan and most other competitors have significantly lower burdens on their people and business. This has to change now.

Expanding the EU to 37 – The central European priority for the next decade

Austrian – Ukrainian Friendship

Road to Growth for Ukraine

Günther Fehlinger, Chairman of Europeans for Tax Reform

Günther Fehlinger, Europeans for Tax Reform, Receiving the Honorary Title Award Golden Arrow at Confindustria, Vienna

Tired of enlargement? Sorry then because this has to be the central political priority of the next decade and a half. Why? No just because of the moral obligation towards the 9 pre European countries and their 70 Million people from Albania to Ukraine and Montenegro to Georgia but we, as European and as European elite need to show the world that we as EU and Member States and as pillar of the Western World are perfectly capable to could war or since the start of world war one which was the ultimate European debacle due to unrestrained conflicts of power in the European continent and we have learnt and developed the EU for that reason and it works very well. Stop that EU bashing. We are more peaceful and prosperous ever in history and that China and others are catching up is the positive result of globalisation and the end of global communism as well counter-model
