Getting to know:

SMITH & WESSON M+P SPORT II

Features:

- 16" barrel (1+9 twist)
 - 5 position collapsible stock
 - clean-click trigger
 - adjustable front sight (steel)
 - pistol handgrip
 - folding rear sight or steel
 - safety / fire lock
 - magazine release button
 - flash suppressor compensator muzzle
- Frame Material: Aluminum Alloy
 - Barrel Material: 4140 steel
 - AT3 LEAS RED DOT ^{scope}
 - Standard base-plate
 - magazine slot holder (30-60 RND capacity)
 - iron sight scope
 - barrel shroud (for mounting sights, scopes)
 - Finish = Black Matte
 - not included in Sport I =
 Forward assist bolt ~~chamber~~ + dusting

FEATURES in detail:

- a) arguably one of the highest value rifles on the market
- b) why → combination of PRICE, QUALITY, + SIMPLICITY
- c) excellent for AR-15 platform →
 - great for beginners
- d) the collapsible + stock → no need to change out pistol grip concern = may change out if ones hands are too big
- e) military issued for the platform AR-15 purposes
- f) standard base plate → common for most AR-15 styles
 - QD sling mount; don't need to change it out
 - entry-level to medium grade AR-15

SMITH & WESSON M&P SPORT II

FEATURES in detail

g.) the trigger

- most entry-level / medium grade AR-15 rifles have terrible stock triggers
- creepily bad trigger pulls
- bad break points
 - the "trigger break" is the point at which the mechanism releases the hammer
 - hammer = other mechanism that stores potential energy
 - trigger reset = point at which the trigger & sear is re-engaged to be fired again; measured based on trigger travel
 - trigger pull weight = no more than $1/2$ of what your rifle weighs [if rifle is 8 pnds, 4 pnds of ammo stored at most]
- The Sport II is an exception for changing out a poor trigger
- nice clean pull
- * ~~some~~ good AR15 triggers → Rock River Arms two-stage
- * 100-$200 upgrade saver

h.) The forward bolt assist + dust cover

- not included in the S&W M&P Sport I
- adds more value to these components where you may need them in worse situations

SMITH & WESSON M&P SPORT II

i) MBus backup sight system →

- foldable, but can break over time
- iron bore sights before they leave the factory (S&W)
- small adjustments ± 50-100 yds at close range

j) front hand guards →

- slim profile (preferred for AR-15 rifles)
- Smith & Wesson uses this slim type
- lacks heat shields (gray piece w/ holes in side the component)
- the heat shield is removed to save cost & weight
- is no heat shield a problem? 98% of the time, no; it depends:
 - ~~used~~ used: if the rifle is fired not much & consecutively
 - excessed in use; it will get very hot if the case
 - if it's fired way too much, the handguard can get hot & get uncomfortable to hold
 - the top of the handguard = hottest
 - the bottom end (near barrel sighting shroud) = coolest
 - solution = good pair of tactical shooting gloves
 - vertical mount = a grip placed under the quad rail (magpul / BCM forward mounts)
 - quad rail = a handguard that has (4) ~~holes~~ sight shrouds (2 on the sides / 1 top / 1 on bottom)
 - other AR-15 rifles have heat shield w/ (x2) holes top / bottom
 - Sport two only has 1 row of holes to release heat

23-cv-1483(FBI)-2259

SMITH + WESSON SPORT II

Featured in brief:

K) A2 front sight post

- The Sport 2 is not designed for dedicated high optics platform
- built-in glass block

L) Standard tube A birdcage

- also called a muzzle brake
- or flash suppressor compensator = where the gas pushes out the SIDE / holes on sides $\leftarrow \vee \rightarrow$
- muzzle brakes = shoot gas upward at an angle when bullet is released $\nwarrow \vee \nearrow$

M) barrel $\rightarrow$ 1 + 9 twist or melon knight coated (melon knight)

- 0 problems w/ coating + melon knight
- lacks a chrome lining internal finish (does not affect accuracy)
- 100% on steel case ammo
- controversy $\rightarrow$ the twist of the barrel $\rightarrow$ The Sport 1 has 1 + 8 twist 5r more accurate barrel, which like is military (1 + 7) = perfect to stabilize
- the civilian twist (1 + 9) is the Sport II
- the 1 + 8 twist perfect for all types of bullets (50-77 Grain)
- The 1 + 9 is STILL EFFICIENT + would not see a difference

SMITH+WESSON SPORT II

The Accessories:

a.) over-accessorize = bad (keep it simple)

b.) cleaning → a Bore's snake

- to clean barrel + Lube cleaning combination c.) sighting systems

- the mBus flip is a good back-up but not really designed to be a primary

- iron sight → Troy battle sight (steel/aluminum)

- red dot → a back-up sight in case the battery is burned out or turned off (aimpoints / vortex) ^{highest quality}

- hybrid → 3-power optics + X plus glass

- scope → $ around 200 (Nikon p-223) bullet drop compensation = know where hold ups are at various distances when shooting a 55 grain bullet

(Wilson Combat) quick mount → modularity w/ your platform; screw attachment to fasten to the sight shroud

- some will use a different scope / optic for every and buy ~~have~~ another AR-15 / with quick mounts you CAN USE JUST ONE RIFLE

d.) slings

- attachments typically on base plate

(brand) Galco (loop + latch) → run through butt stock + clip through rail loop attachment

AR-15 style rifles

2010 "most beloved & most vilified rifles" (NY Times)

- Scaled down / lighter weight version
- for sport shooting & target competitions
- ArmaLite design
- AM15 - close to AR-15

• Scaled down to AR-10s

• "AR15 style" = scaled down version, light weight

SPORT II SMITH & WESSON

- The Application

- well-known quality • good cost
- stick to the simplicity
- you don't have to change out components
- there are better qualities, such as ~~the~~ Ruger, but it's excellent in simplicity

MUZZLES
for AR-15
& AR-10s

FLASH SUPPRESSOR COMPENSATOR VS. MUZZLE BRAKE

① Muzzle Brake

- 50 caliber sniper rifles
- it re-directs gas
- utilize gas from actual combustion of the powder
- getting conversion into gas from a solid which propels the projectile

the idea its use its specialties = a.) does not have ports (holes) either on the top or the bottom

b.) ports on side angled backwards c.) forward thrust & reduce recoil d.) it sets

you up for your NEXT shot

② Compensator:

- compensate for the recoil action
- for continued follow up shots
- more of a control aspect

Solid → powder → projectile → gas ? where does it go?

- no port on bottom most ports on top

- gasses go UPWARD

- allow to have follow up continuous shot accuracy more of ↑ gas

↓ downward thrust

WHAT THEY DO:

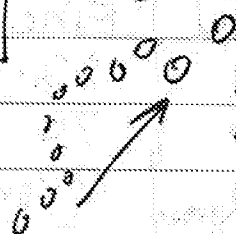

2 birdcage Standard

→ Semi-Auto

- Normal M4 rifle

- no device

- not beneficial for medium or long range

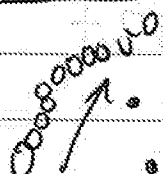

- loose spread

- goes upward to right

Muzzle Brake

→ Automatic (continuous triggerhold)

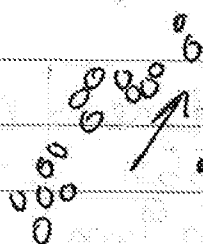

- tight spread

- goes upward to right • high

Compensator

→ Automatic

- high + right

- more tighter than muzzle

(3-29-21)

M4 CARBINE

Military rifle = they use M4 / M4A1 5.56mm / U.S. military / gas operated / magazine fed / collapsible stock / Automatic / selective rate

- more compact version of the M16 rifle

- fielded in 1980s

- powerful suppressive fire / provide high volume firepower

- put on national firearms registry

- 1.) California
- 2.) Connecticut
- 3.) Hawaii
- 4.) Maryland
- 5.) Massachusetts
- 6.) New Jersey
- 7.) New York

Assault Rifle Loopholes (Legal)

- automatic weapons
- one of the few "support" to be banned or at least restricted in America
- technically legal ^{until} (1986) Congress passed Firearm Owners Protection Act - made illegal to manufacture to civilians

Loophole #1: if you had an automatic weapon before 1986; it's grandfathered to the law

- technically still legal to buy, own, or sell (Nevada) if a few decades old
- registering fully auto weapons w/ ATF (US Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms & Explosives)
- 630,000 guns in circulation to federal data

Loophole #2:

- legal to sell & by modification kits that can convert to semi-auto weapons
- modification (one of these) bump stock
- bump stock → replaces the gun's shoulder rest w/ a "support step" that covers the trigger opening (finger pulls the trigger for each round fired = semi auto appearance)
- The Bump Fire System
- other modifications such as semi-auto to automatic

Other Loopholes (in Assault / Automatic Rifles)

- Congress gets no votes banning the bump stock after sandy hook, Connecticut
- No paperwork 2 register a gun legal

Alternate Plan (2021 July - 2022) disadvantages:

Can still go to the range for: Renting / handgun (if it is not discovered)
carbine (concealable fold mechanism) (if it is not discovered)

ages:

The kind of ^{guns} ~~ARs~~ I ^{would want} to rent/try:

- AR-15 pistol (Palmetto St. Armory) (Diamond Back)
- Daniel Defense/white/semi auto/.556
- Ruger/black (.556 or .223)
- Glock .19 or .17 GEN
- ✓ • Bushmaster AR/semi auto (.556 or .223)

Disadvantages of having/owning an AR-15 rifle (Sport II)

- Democratic party wants to ban them (Fuck em)
- possibility of assault weapons to ban next year 2022
- If ban goes through, it would be illegal to sell or shoot.

b7F -2

• ~~school~~ school + mass shootings continuing to rise in #s.

- too noticable
- not concealable
- expensive to keep
- cleaning process takes longer
- harder to shoot standing
- a lot of accessories to buy

Advantages

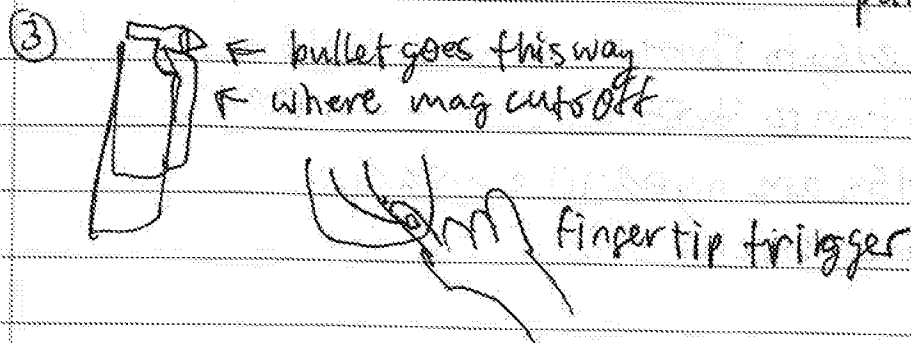

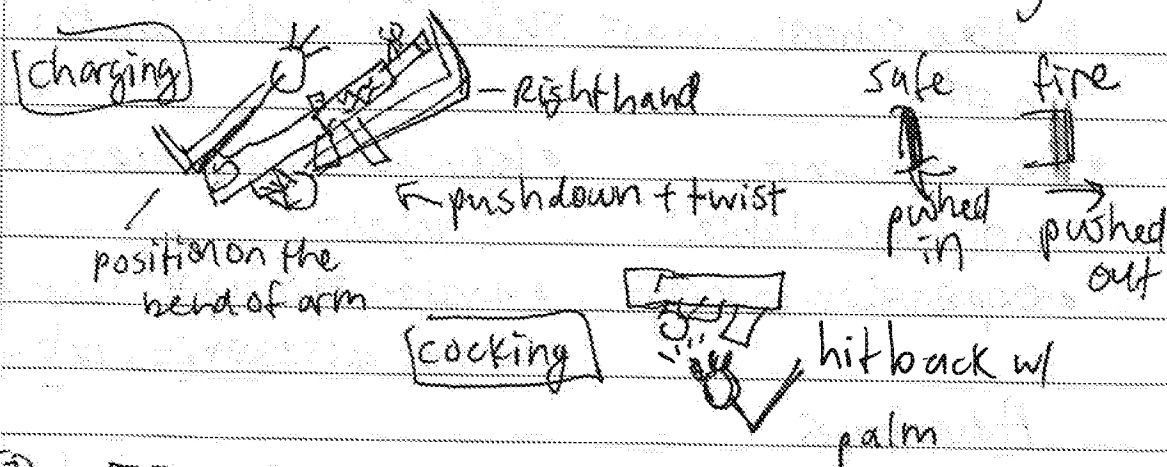

- was easy to shoot
- ~~was~~ fun to shoot
- AR-15s are a good like weapon
- don't have to rent one
- going to the range w/no charge (rent)

~~Kel-Tech~~ : 7/21/21 Sunday
Summer Gun & Supply

Gun prices: ^{→ $100 cheaper} (Low prices) a.) Kel-Tech Sub-2000 / $549.00 + tax b.) Tactical Defense AR-15 pistol / $56 / $549.00 c.) Glock 19. $300 ($400?)
d.) Glock 19 $

Lessons/Advice

- ① • stay calm while shooting at the range. Unless someone is shooting at you, be relaxed. Don't get scared if you are not being shot at. Focus on YOURSELF not what others are doing.
- ② • cocking / charging carbine (kel-tech sub 2000)

Knowing what AR-15 to own

For owning high priced AR-15 pistols

- Saint Victor → has a metal trigger assembly
- Daniel Defense
- * they are better quality materials
- * last longer muzzles, gas blocks, ~~etc~~ Anodizing
- * mil-spec upper & lower receivers, bolt carriers, charging handles are better manufactured
- * Can last up to 10,000 Rounds without breaking (if cleaned & maintained properly ever 500-1,000 RNDs)

For standard owning AR-15 pistols

Palmetto State Armory → phosphate & nitrate, polymer upper & lowers

- * materials are not as good
- * will break apart after 10,000 RNDs used
- * if not even fired 1,000 RNDs, it will work fine

Shera coat vs. ~~etc~~ → BETTER option / ^{chemical resistant} corrosion resistant Oxidation → blowing process / more chemicals
